Parrot Pellets are a balanced diet for all parrots including ringnecks, conures, amazons, eclectus, cockatoos & macaws.

Use as a healthy replacement to seed mixes.

What's wrong with seed mixes?

Wasteful – parrots don't eat the husk and select only their favourite seeds, wasting up to 40% of the seed mix.

Poor Nutrition – seed is deficient in essential nutrients such as amino acids, vitamins & minerals, but with excessive amounts of fat, which can lead to unhealthy birds.

Benefits of Parrot Pellets

- Totally Edible – Reduces waste and mess.
- Better Nutrition – Enriched with essential amino acids (lysine, methionine), omega-3 & 6, vitamins & minerals.
- Improved Health – Low fat for weight control, with quality protein for good feather condition.

Directions

Direct Change to Pellets: Applies to companion pets and larger parrots. Initially remove all seed and treats and provide only pellets. If birds do not eat during the day, replace some of the seed before nightfall and try again the next day. If this is not successful, try gradually introducing pellets.

Introducing Pellets: For smaller parrots and difficult-to-convert birds. Start with a 50:50 mix of pellets and seed then slowly reduce the proportion of seed over a number of days.

Body weight and health should be closely monitored when changing to pellets.

Refer to table on pack for daily feed guidelines.
