

Liquid Gold

Calcium & Vitamin D₃ Supplement for Birds

Supplies calcium, essential minerals and antioxidants for healthy egg formation and chick growth.

Calcium is “like gold” when it comes to breeding birds and raising healthy chicks. It is an essential nutrient for proper egg shell formation and bone growth in developing young. However most seed mixes do not provide the calcium that birds require, so a dietary supplement may improve breeding success. Additional calcium may affect the absorption of other minerals such as magnesium and manganese so these must be balanced with calcium intake.

Liquid Gold is a readily absorbable liquid that can be administered to water, food or orally to deficient birds.

Liquid Gold contains Calcium along with the following nutrients:

Vitamin D₃ for the effective absorption of calcium from the gut.

Magnesium which is stored in the eggshell and utilised in the bones of growing chicks.

Manganese a deficiency of which can lead to shell-thinning and skeletal abnormalities.

Lutein which is a naturally occurring carotenoid that provides antioxidant activity and the rich yellow colour in egg yolk.
